Title of Study: A Study of How Love is Experienced Over Time in Non-heterosexual Relationships

Investigator(s): Michelle Okun, Master's of Social Work Candidate, Smith College

Introduction

• You are being asked to be in a research study of how love is experienced over time in non-heterosexual relationships
• You were selected as a possible participant because you identify as gay, lesbian, bisexual, or queer, and you are over the age of 18. In addition you have been in a non-heterosexual relationship for a minimum of two years and are living in the United States.
• We ask that you read this form and ask any questions that you may have before agreeing to be in the study.

Purpose of Study

• The purpose of the study is to investigate how love changes over time in non-heterosexual relationships
• This study is being conducted as a research requirement for my master’s in social work degree.
• Ultimately, this research may be published or presented at professional conferences.

Description of the Study Procedures

• If you agree to be in this study, you will be asked to do the following things: Complete screening questions for an online survey to confirm eligibility for the survey. If you meet criteria you will be asked to complete a short demographic questionnaire, the Triangle Theory of Love Scale, the Couples Satisfaction Index, and 6 short-answer questions.

Risks/Discomforts of Being in this Study

• The present study poses a low risk to participants. However, because you will be asked to reflect on your own relationship/s, it is possible that participation in the study may cause some uncomfortable thoughts and feelings to occur regarding your current relationship. You have the right to refuse to answer any question on the survey without repercussions or exit the survey at any time. Your participation in the survey will be totally voluntary and anonymous.
LONG-TERM NONHETEROSEXUAL RELATIONSHIPS

Benefits of Being in the Study

· Participation in the study will provide you a unique experience to reflect upon your relationships with your partners and how it has changed or not changed over time. You will have the potential benefit of knowing you helped establish research that further legitimizes non-heterosexual relationships because it will provide a fuller examination of what love looks like within same-sex couples of different ages and different relationship stages.
· This research is intended to benefit social work by increasing the amount of research on love in non-heterosexual couples. The purpose of this study is to add to the scientific literature by collecting survey data about passion, intimacy, commitment, and relationship satisfaction in non-heterosexual relationships. Relationship counselors could use this information to show couples they are not alone and many couples experience challenges over the course of their relationship.

* 6. Confidentiality

· Participation in the study will be anonymous and data will be kept confidential and only will be accessed by me, my research advisor, and Marjorie Postal, Smith statistician. When you access the questionnaire’s website, no information, such as your email address, will be collected or stored that would allow your identity to be traced. Participants will not be asked to identify themselves. Demographic questions are anonymous, therefore no one will be able to be identified by their responses.
· For open-ended questions, you should not provide any identifying information in your responses. Please do not use your name or other identifying information about friends, family, or yourself, this information will be treated confidentially and will be immediately deleted. If this study is used for publication or presentation, any possible identifying information about participants will be disguised.
· All data collected will be stored on SurveyMonkey.com, which is a website that is firewalled, password-protected, and encrypted. SurveyMonkey’s Security Statement is listed in (surveymonkey.com).
· All data will be stored on the website’s server for three years as required by Federal regulations, after which they will be destroyed or kept secure as long as they are needed.

Payments/gift

· You will not receive any financial payment for your participation.

Right to Refuse or Withdraw

· Participation in this study is voluntary, and you have the right to refuse to answer any question on the survey. You may choose to withdraw from the study at any point before electronically submitting their survey. If you choose to withdraw, none of the answers to the questions completed prior to withdrawal will be saved. However, after submission, you will be unable to withdraw because due to the anonymous nature of participation, it would be impossible to identify your answers.

Right to Ask Questions and Report Concerns

79
You have the right to ask questions about this research study and to have those questions answered by me before, during or after the research. If you have any further questions about the study, at any time feel free to contact me, Michelle Okun. If you would like a summary of the study results, one will be sent to you once the study is completed. If you have any other concerns about your rights as a research participant, or if you have any problems as a result of your participation, you may contact the Chair of the Smith College School for Social Work Human Subjects Committee at (413) 585-7974.

Dear _____,

I am a master’s student at Smith College School for Social Work and I am in the process of writing my graduate thesis about intimacy, passion, and commitment within non-heterosexual relationships. The goal of this research is to add to the current research on love, which is primarily about heterosexual individuals, and give a voice to GLBTQ folks through research. This research is anonymous and confidential. I am hoping to have participants of all ages and would really appreciate being able to write a post that could be sent out to this group that includes the link to the anonymous online survey. Is this something you would consider? If not, please let me know if I may contact you in the future and send you the survey to pass along outside of the group.

Thank you,

Hello there! Do you identify as non-heterosexual? Have you been dating your primary partner for more than two years? I am conducting a study for my Master’s thesis at Smith College School for Social Work that explores non-heterosexual love in longer-term (two years or longer) relationships. In order to participate in this study you must live in the United States and be over the age of 18, and have a primary relationship lasting 2 or more years.

As someone who identifies as being in a non-heterosexual relationship, I was troubled by the lack of research on love within non-heterosexual relationships. The purpose of this study is to add to the scientific literature by collecting survey data about passion, intimacy, commitment, and relationship satisfaction in non-heterosexual relationships. Your participation would involve a brief online screening to ensure eligibility, followed by an anonymous Internet survey that will take you around 30-45 minutes to complete.

Contact Michelle Okun at mokun@smith.edu for information on participation. If you know someone who might be interested in participation, please share this post and link with them. Thank you for reading and sharing!

Introduction

• You are being asked to be in a research study of how love is experienced over time in non-heterosexual relationships
• You were selected as a possible participant because you identify as gay, lesbian, bisexual, or queer, and you are over the age of 18. In addition you have been in a non-heterosexual relationship for a minimum of two years and are living in the United States.
• We ask that you read this form and ask any questions that you may have before agreeing to be in the study.

Purpose of Study

• The purpose of the study is to investigate how love changes over time in non-heterosexual relationships
• This study is being conducted as a research requirement for my master’s in social work degree.
• Ultimately, this research may be published or presented at professional conferences.

Description of the Study Procedures

• If you agree to be in this study, you will be asked to do the following things: Complete screening questions for an online survey to confirm eligibility for the survey. If you meet criteria you will be asked to complete a short demographic questionnaire, the Triangle Theory of Love Scale, the Couples Satisfaction Index, and 6 short-answer questions.

Risks/Discomforts of Being in this Study

LONG-TERM NONHETEROSEXUAL RELATIONSHIPS

• The present study poses a low risk to participants. However, because you will be asked to reflect on your own relationship/s, it is possible that participation in the study may cause some uncomfortable thoughts and feelings to occur regarding your current relationship. You have the right to refuse to answer any question on the survey without repercussions or exit the survey at any time. Your participation in the survey will be totally voluntary and anonymous.

Benefits of Being in the Study

• Participation in the study will provide you a unique experience to reflect upon your relationships with your partners and how it has changed or not changed over time. You will have the potential benefit of knowing you helped establish research that further legitimizes non-heterosexual relationships because it will provide a fuller examination of what love looks like within same-sex couples of different ages and different relationship stages.

• This research is intended to benefit social work by increasing the amount of research on love in non-heterosexual couples. The purpose of this study is to add to the scientific literature by collecting survey data about passion, intimacy, commitment, and relationship satisfaction in non-heterosexual relationships. Relationship counselors could use this information to show couples they are not alone and many couples experience challenges over the course of their relationship.

Confidentiality

• Participation in the study will be anonymous and data will be kept confidential and only will be accessed by me, my research advisor, and Marjorie Postal, Smith statistician. When you access the questionnaire's website, no information, such as your email address, will be collected or stored that would allow your identity to be traced. Participants will not be asked to identify themselves. Demographic questions are anonymous, therefore no one will be able to be identified by their responses.

• For open-ended questions, you should not provide any identifying information in your responses. Please do not use your name or other identifying information about friends, family, or yourself, this information will be treated confidentially and will be immediately deleted. If this study is used for publication or presentation, any possible identifying information about participants will be disguised.

• All data collected will be stored on SurveyMonkey.com, which is a website that is firewalled, password-protected, and encrypted. SurveyMonkey's Security Statement is listed in (surveymonkey.com).

• All data will be stored on the website's server for three years as required by Federal regulations, after which they will be destroyed or kept secure as long as they are needed.

Payments/gift

• You will not receive any financial payment for your participation.

Right to Refuse or Withdraw
LONG-TERM NONHETEROSEXUAL RELATIONSHIPS

- Participation in this study is voluntary, and you have the right to refuse to answer any question on the survey. You may choose to withdraw from the study at any point before electronically submitting their survey. If you choose to withdraw, none of the answers to the questions completed prior to withdrawal will be saved. However, after submission, you will be unable to withdraw because due to the anonymous nature of participation, it would be impossible to identify your answers.

Right to Ask Questions and Report Concerns
- You have the right to ask questions about this research study and to have those questions answered by me before, during or after the research. If you have any further questions about the study, at any time feel free to contact me, Michelle Okun, mokun@smith.edu. If you would like a summary of the study results, one will be sent to you once the study is completed. If you have any other concerns about your rights as a research participant, or if you have any problems as a result of your participation, you may contact the Chair of the Smith College School for Social Work Human Subjects Committee at (413) 585-7974.

Scoring

Psychologist Robert Sternberg sees love as being composed of three components: intimacy, passion, and commitment. The first 15 items in the scale reflect intimacy, the second 15 measure passion, and the final 15 reflect commitment. Add up your scores for each group of 15 items. Find the scores closest to your three totals in the appropriate column below to determine the degree to which you experience each of these three components of love.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Intimacy (Items 1–15)</th>
<th>Passion (Items 16–30)</th>
<th>Commitment (Items 31–45)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>101</td>
<td>94</td>
<td>88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>102</td>
<td>95</td>
<td>97</td>

<tr>

<td>120</td>
<td>110</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>129</td>
<td>123</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

According to Sternberg, high scores in all three components would indicate consummate love. However, uneven or low scores do not necessarily mean that a relationship is not strong; all relationships have ups and downs, and the nature of a relationship may change over time.
